. . resumes his life. The next day, he sees her when she is released from prison and gets upset. She falls ill and is hospitalized. Later, he visits her in hospital. A policeman (Amol Gupte) who is her father, kills her right then, as it is not known that he is a cop. Her death is still unsolved, but her lover suspects her father. Meanwhile, Manu's friend (who is Manu's look-alike) also gets killed by the police who believes that he has killed the real Manu, which he denies, as he was also kidnapped by the same policeman. . . . Manu meets a singer (Kareena Kapoor) and starts a romantic relationship, to which her parents (Irrfan Khan and his wife Amrita Rao) disapprove, but he still has a future with her. When Manu's father hears this, he comes to Mumbai to see Manu and then leaves for Germany. Manu then realizes that she cannot handle a relationship with a guy who does not want to settle in India. Manu then realizes that she loves her father more than the lover. After Manu's father returns to India, they talk over the phone and their relationship seems to be back on track. They then plan to meet in London. Manu travels to London by herself with her friend. Manu then sees the same policeman who had killed Manu's lover in Mumbai, which shocks Manu and her friend. . . . In London, they see the same policeman who was responsible for the death of Manu's friend. Manu thinks that it was not her father who killed her friend and left Mumbai, but a cop. Her friend sees this and is upset. Manu tells her friend that she will fix everything. Meanwhile, Manu's father meets a group of people who had kidnapped Manu and her friend. She then realizes that her father is still a gangster, after all. Manu's father takes them to a safe house, but Manu's father tells Manu that she is still a part of his life. Manu then gets angry and tries to leave her father. But her father tells her that he has a plan to fix everything and Manu realizes that he is still a gangster. . . . Manu's father tells Manu that she will marry her friend's killer's look-
